

ABSTRACT

[0016] An insulation cloth is provided having two or more layers on top of each other and connected to each other along connecting lines forming airways between them. Gas may be provided into between the connecting lines to
5 provide for improved insulation of the cloth.